BUSINESSOWNER'S POLICY

Premium Audit/FAQs

Berkshire Hathaway GUARD Insurance Companies

1. What is a premium audit and why is this process necessary?

For some insurance policies, the premium charged is based upon a business's annual payroll or sales, which is estimated at the beginning of a policy term. A premium audit is a means of verifying that amount by reviewing a business's payroll or sales records and (sometimes, operational information) at the end of the policy term or upon cancellation. The audit determines the actual risk exposure, and then, premium adjustments are made as necessary. In some cases, additional money may be owed by the policyholder; in other cases, money may be refunded.

Workers' Compensation policies are required to be audited as well as some Businessowner's Policies (BOP). If the liability component of BOP coverage, for instance, is based on either payroll (typical for contractors) or sales (common for restaurants), an audit may be necessary for that type of policy.

The following questions and answers apply mainly to audits for policy premiums based on payroll. Please contact us for more information about audits for policy premiums based upon sales.

2. What information and records will be needed to complete the audit?

- Payroll records listing individual wages and job duties (payroll journals, check register, general ledger, and other forms of business records)
- Quarterly Federal Tax Returns (IRS Form 941) for the most recently completed four quarters or quarterly State Unemployment Forms*
- Miscellaneous Income Forms (IRS Form 1099)
- Certificates of Insurance (ACORD Form 25) for any subcontractors and owner-operators
- Photos and/or videos to support description of operations

* If neither of the above forms are available, policyholders should use Schedule C of the Federal Income Tax Return (sole proprietors), Form 1065 (LLCs/partnerships), or Form 1120 (corporations).

3. How is a premium audit conducted?

Depending upon the premium size and/or nature of the business, one of three methods will be used to obtain audit information. In all cases, audits should be handled by someone familiar with the operation and authorized to release payroll data.

SELF-AUDIT

For a self-audit, the policyholder will receive notification along with the necessary audit form, that a premium audit is due prior to policy expiration or upon cancellation. Supplementary documentation can be forwarded to us via the upload function available from our website at www.guard.com, email, fax, or traditional mail. See page 3 for contact information.

TELEPHONE AUDIT

For telephone audits, the policyholder will receive a preliminary notification of the information/records to have on hand prior to the scheduled phone audit. In some cases, we may require that this information is submitted in advance. The phone interview will then be conducted at the agreed upon time and date to complete the process. Supplemental documentation can be forwarded to us via the upload function available from our website at www.guard.com, email, fax, or traditional mail. See page 3 for contact information.

Premium Audit/FAQs

3. How is a premium audit conducted? (continued)	PHYSICAL AUDIT For physical audits, the policyholder will receive a preliminary notification of the information/records to have on hand prior to the scheduled visit. The visit will then be conducted at the agreed upon time and date to complete the process while on premise. To ensure accuracy, the policyholder should plan to have the insurance auditor review records at the primary place of business. If payroll records are located at one or more secondary locations (such as an accountant's office), those documents should be forwarded to the primary place of business in advance. If the audit MUST be done off-premises due to extenuating circumstances, a designated contact person should either accompany our representative or be available by phone to talk about workplace exposures.
4. If a scheduled audit appointment cannot be met, what should be done?	Contact the auditor as soon as possible with: (a) the name and phone number of the policyholder as shown on the policy; (b) the name of the person to contact, his/her phone number and available hours for rescheduling; and (c) the location of the audit if different than the original location specified.
5. What if an audit is overdue/more time is needed to complete it?	In either case, please contact Customer Service or our Premium Audit Department. See page 3 for contact information. Each request or situation will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.
6. What is a subcontractor? What is an owner-operator? How is this payroll handled?	A subcontractor is someone other than an employee who is hired to assist the policyholder in providing a product or service to customers. An owner-operator is a person who operates a personally owned vehicle on behalf of the business. In each case, payment is made by some method other than payroll, such as cash or a payable disbursement (i.e., IRS Form 1099). We must receive a Certificate of Insurance (ACORD Form 25) for each subcontractor and owner operator. If adequate proof of coverage is not provided, payroll will be charged for the uninsured parties during the audit.
7. What if the policyholder had no employees during the term?	Policyholders with no employees still need to provide tax verification. All pages of the policyholder's year-end tax from should be provided. Specifically: • Form 1120 for corporations. • Schedule C (attached to Form 1040) for sole proprietors. • Form 1065 or other for LCCs/partnerships.
8. If a policy is cancelled mid-term, does an audit still need to be conducted?	Yes.

Premium Audit/FAQs

9. What happens if a policyholder chooses not to cooperate with the premium audit?	Policyholders who refuse to cooperate with a premium audit will be marked non-complaint. This may result in cancellation and/or non-renewal of your insurance policy.
10. How can a copy of the premium audit worksheet be requested?	Simply email a request to premiumaudit@guard.com.
11. Is there a way to dispute the audit results?	Yes. If the policyholder disagrees with the final audit results, a dispute can be forwarded to us by fax at 570-829-4587 or by email to premiumaudit@guard.com. The dispute must include: (a) what is being disputed regarding the audit such as employee classification, payroll, etc. and (b) any and all supporting documentation.
